2 NEW STORMS PREDICTED

Weather Bureau Warns Of Possible Renewal Of Floods In Valley

SAN FRANCISCO, (UP) — The weatherman focused his binoculars on a storm 400 miles at sea today and, forewarned, armed himself with a forecast of "fairly heavy" rains for San Francisco and northern California some time today and tomorrow.

The new storm, with warmer temperatures in the Sierras which would hasten the melting snow, may produce flood threats in the Sacramento Valley, the weather bureau said.

And, as if to bear out his Tuesday predictions of perhaps a week of wet weather, the weather man also sighted still another storm, much heavier, swooping over the mid-Pacific. He said it was a little too early to predict its course — whether it would strike California or cut north over Washington and Oregon.

He coupled his forecast of rain with southeast storm warnings from San Francisco to the coast of Washington, telling small craft to stick close to home bases.

East "Digs Out" Of Worst Storm

New York Snowfall For Year Is 107 Inches, Greatest In 36 Years

SYRACUSE, N. Y. — (UP) Central New York and eastern Canada dug out today from under the worst snow storm of the winter.

The heavy snow which began falling over most sections last Friday—the third day of Spring—had piled drifts as high as 30 feet over the northern areas, blocked highways, and cut off several rural communities from their sources of food and other supplies.

Most of the main upstate highways were cleared but rural districts still were snowed under. Half the trunk highways of Quebec were impassable. Rural sections of Ontario were isolated and some of them faced food and fuel shortages.

Three inches of snow that fell in central New York yesterday brought the winter's total snowfall to 107.5 inches, the highest since 1904 when 112 inches fell.

JUNIOR PLAY WILL BE GIVEN ON FRIDAY, APRIL 5TH

"Little Geraldine" is going to be all right.

In the first stages of her convalescence, it was feared she might have a relapse, but Director Thomas Flynn reports that from present indications the cast for the Junior Play will score another success at the high school auditorium on Friday night, April 5th.

The seat sale for the presentation has been under way for the past two weeks and those who are obtaining tickets from members of the class are exchanging them for reserved seat checks at Fox Bros. drug store.

The normal rainfall for an entire water year, July 1 to June 30th, computed over a fifty-year period is 40.46 inches.

The total seasonal rainfall in Placerville up to eight o'clock Thursday morning was 44.08 inches. This was ten inches greater than the average total rainfall expected by April 1 and exceed by more than four inches the average rainfall for an entire water year for the past fifty years.

The storm brought some snow in the higher levels, indicating a possible postponement of plans for an early start in the lumbering industry, but in the lower levels stockmen, orchardists and miners acclaimed the rains as beneficial.

Travel continued Thursday morning over U. S. Route 50 to Lake Valley, Nevada and east although chains were required on all cars crossing the Echo summit, according to reports to the Placerville office of the California State Automobile Association. From the west the south end of Lake Tahoe came a report of "considerable" snow on Thursday morning. Telephone communication with Echo summit was not possible.

Strawberry Resort reported two inches of new snow Thursday morning to the state division of highways office at Smith Flat. This also was the total depth on the ground at that point. Two snowplows had been sent to the area to assist one from Truckee in maintaining travel. Snow was continuing to fall about 11 o'clock.

Camp Five, in the American River Canyon, reported one inch of snow Thursday morning.

"The Ideals Of The Junior American Citizen"

CITY DIVISION

By GEORGA CRYSTAL
Of Miss Ruth Henson's 8th Grade,
Placerville Grammar School

A citizen is a member of a state or nation who enjoys political rights and privileges and gives in return his allegiance to his government.

In my opinion, there are many ideals a "Junior" citizen should live up to and abide by the most important of these ideals.

"We, the people of the United States, in order to form a more perfect union, establish justice, insure domestic tranquility, provide for the common defense, promote the general welfare, secure the blessings of liberty to ourselves and our posterity, do ordain and establish this Constitution for the United States of America."

Many may think the ideals stated in the preamble pertain only to those who vote.

Others may think these ideals pertain only to those who govern our land. Both groups are wrong. The ideals in the preamble pertain to all citizens both junior and senior, and should be upheld, obeyed and respected by all.

The preamble is a code by which free people should live. It begins: "We, the people of the United States." This includes all American citizens of the present time and provides for future citizens. The junior citizens of today will be the senior citizens of tomorrow. In order to have future citizens, the United States government must protect the present junior citizens. They must learn about justice by paying allegiance to the laws of the land during their growing years. Juniors can learn to be good citizens by watching others carry out these laws and by obeying them themselves. "Junior Citizens" should obey parental laws. The Bible commands:

LEGION POST TO GRANT LAND NEAR FAIR SITE TO COUNTY

The executive Council of El Dorado Post No. 119, American Legion, meeting at the courthouse Wednesday night, agreed to grant the Board of Supervisors title to two small tracts of land adjoining the county fairgrounds.

One piece is said to be at the easternly portion of the fair site, bounded on two sides by highway 50 and adjoining the Clark property. The other is to provide a right of way and new entrance to the auto parking lot.

It was said that formal acquisition of the area by the board will make it eligible to share in the future in the use of WPA funds for its improvement.

RURAL DIVISION

By PATRICIA NICHOLS

Today in this period of war and misunderstanding what could be more important than for us, the youth of this country to develop ideals of citizenship. The youth of today will be responsible for the government of tomorrow. Therefore it is necessary that we set ideals toward which we must strive.

To preserve peace should be a very important ideal of junior citizens. There is not much we can do toward national peace, but we can promote peace in our own groups of friends by being tactful, using self control, and discouraging trouble among others.

In order to prepare for the difficulties and problems of government, we must begin by learning to solve our every day problems. This may be done in various ways. First, there is our school work. In school we have the opportunity to study civics and history which gives us a foundation for our future work. Also through our play we are able to develop good fellowship and sportsmanship. In sports we learn to respect the other person and his ideas. Sportsmanship is our ability to deal fairly with the other person.

We should learn early in life to obey the laws of our community. In order to live in harmony with our fellow men, we must conform to the law. The laws of this country are made by the majority of the people and whether we like these laws or not, it is our duty to respect and obey them.

In America we are fortunate that every individual has the opportunity to be whatever he or she wants to be. We must not lose sight of the fact that this country was as

COUNTY TO GET FOREST FUNDS

$8,203 Rebate On Receipts For Last Fiscal Year Revealed At Washington

WASHINGTON, MARCH 28—(UP) — The U. S. Forest Service today reported that California counties will receive $170,239 from the federal treasury as their share of the rebates to counties from the national forest receipts for the 1939 fiscal year.

Three California counties were among the 18 in the United States to receive more than $10,000 in the refunds. They were Plumas county, $40,300; Modoc county, $12,000; and Lassen county, $11,900.

El Dorado county's allotment is $8,203.33.

The law requires that the funds paid to the counties shall be used for public schools and roads.

The Forest Service reported that cash receipts from the administration of the national forest system during the fiscal year totaled $4,903,376. Of this total $23,554 was set aside for school lands and $10,343 was earmarked for acquisition of land in California, Nevada, Utah and Wyoming. The congressional reservations for these funds included $1,200 for the Cleveland Forest and $12,342 for the San Bernardino Forest in California.

Region 6, Farm Bureau, Me

Caroline Jay and Garret Cassidy love each other but, because Garret is a shiftless poolroom loafer, Caroline's mother has forbidden her to see him. Mrs. Jay, superintendent of the Avon Home for the Aged, wants Caroline to encourage Henry Avon, whose wealthy mother is head of the Home's board of directors. One afternoon Caroline meets Garret secretly and they get married. On the way back to town they strike and kill an old man, Pop Whistler, who has just run away from the Home. Frightened, they leave him lying by the roadside. Caroline plans to go home, keep a date with Henry Avon that evening, and then meet Garret at the Chapel at the Home at midnight. Meanwhile, however, Mrs. Avon phones Mrs. Jay, inviting Caroline to her country home for a week, and Mrs. Jay finds a note from Garret to Caroline asking her to meet him at the Chapel at midnight. At the same time, old Miss Pfenniger, one of the inmates, is dying.

CHAPTER XXI
AS THE hands of the clock struck eight, Henry Avon stepped into the hallway of the Home.

Mrs. Jay met him. "Caroline's almost ready," she said in greeting. "You know how girls are."

When Caroline came down the wide stairs, she was beautiful to see, though terror lurked behind the blue agate of her eyes.

"Hello," she said, trying to speak gaily.

She wore a violet-blue gown with a pleated skirt that swirled around her. A violet velvet belt cinched her slim waist and made the dress vivid.

"Hello," Henry Avon called back. "All set?"

Caroline smiled. "Yes—all set. Mrs. Jay said, "Foolish children! Dancing on a night like this."

Henry Avon cut in. "But Mrs. Jay—the Sky Club is open air—under the sky. It will be cool there. I think Caroline should take a wrap."

Mrs. Jay agreed. "And so she should—although right now it seems impossible that she should need it."

She was secretly glad he had suggested it. It gave her a chance to see Caroline alone for a minute. And he was thoughtful—this young man who had come to sweep her daughter off her feet. She beckoned to Caroline.

IN THE quietness of her apartment, Mrs. Jay said, "Take that black velvet coat you had this spring—just to please him. I know you'll never need it."

Caroline nodded. "Of course," she said. She had been grateful, too, for the interlude. Time had flown so fast since she had returned from the eventful ride with Garret. She had had no chance to protest when her mother had packed a suitcase for her—folding with kind hands the new dress and the froth of lingerie.

She had a chance now, and she seized it desperately.

"Mother—" she faltered.

Mrs. Jay looked up at her. Her gray eyes already misted at the parting. "Yes?" she whispered.

"I'll come back tonight from the Sky Club for my bag. No use to take it along now."

Her mother nodded. "That's right." Why did this unwarranted feeling possess her?

Caroline continued: "Mammie dear, you know now I feel about—about a death in the house."

"Yes—" Mrs. Jay repeated.

"Well—to come home tonight to get my bag and start off for a week at the lake with Henry is going to be bad enough. The thought of leaving you makes me feel wretched. I might—I might even change my mind at the last minute."

She looked up at her mother with the eyes that had been Marsha Jay's meteor for twenty years. "No—you mustn't." Mrs. Jay said. "I want you to go."

Caroline hesitated, then went on: "If I do come back here intending to go to the lake, it will break my heart if I know Miss Pfenniger is lying dead—alone in the chapel," she said.

Mrs. Jay answered quickly. "Of course it would," she said kindly. "I know how you've always felt about death in the house. If we lose Miss Pfenniger tonight, I'll not have her brought down to the chapel until morning. And likely I'll be asleep when you come in for your bags, so you won't have to ask me about her."

CAROLINE reached for her mother's hand, kissed the square strong fingers. Then she said, "And you'll promise—you'll promise not to bring her down to the chapel tonight?"

"The chapel—the word rang in Martha Jay's head ominous and strange.

This was absurd. Caroline had always been distraught when death took an inmate.

"You'll promise not to bring her down to the chapel tonight?"

It seemed as if Caroline had said it a hundred times. Mrs. Jay reaching for the velvet wrap would have liked to answer: "No, no! Why do you say 'the chapel'?" She thought again of the note—"Meet me at midnight."

About all the pay a high school athlete gets is a six inch Chenille letter and his name in the paper, so here goes a list of the boys who gave their all for dear old Alma Mater, and also their share in the haul of material glory:

C Team: Russel Land, Bill Ruppel, Wesley Gray, Albert Ball, Don Young, Bill Butts, Dick Cribbs, Fred Westphal, John Wiedman and Art Griggs. All got Block "B" and a gold basketball except Bill Ruppel, who got a star with his letter, and a gold basketball.

Bob Sinclair, Charles Gilmore, James Holt and Leland Wiglesworth got stars, and Bill Johnson, Carl Visman, Charles Irish, Gordon Stoffer, Art Goltz, Ted Yates, Jim Drennan, Merlin Winji were awarded letters.

A Team: Bob Boggs, Gold basketball; Cliff Sweeney, Earl Killian, Ed Edelman and Arnold Wiglesworth, sweaters; Jack Emerson and Harry Westphal, stars, and Drew Rossi and Eugene Springer, letters.

Although there were nearly twenty E's awarded for the first year men, and seven stars to second year men—notably Bill Ruppel who was the only "Star" on the C team—there were only four sweepers, (3 years), and Bob Boggs had the distinction of being the only four year man in two sports this season—Basketball and Football, for both of which he got gold balls.

The Board of Control, acting on the suggestion of a great many members of the Student Body, has voted an E for Al Martin, our only skier.

Our standings in tennis competition are only so-so, having lost to Lone by two matches, and only taken Sutter Creek by a one match margin, but Mr. Ramsey hastens to add that these are only prelims to the big Elimination Tournament in which all schools will meet. The team this year consists of Wally Meyers, No. 1, Chuck Irish, No. 2, Jerry Davis, No. 3, and Dan Walnewman, Barbara Long, Genevieve Perry and Edith Young.

The Basketball Dance, held as usual in the middle of baseball season, will come off on Friday night, the 29th of March at 8:00. Admission will be one ASB Card, or 50¢.

Blood Stone or Aquamarine for March
Actually 2 stones have Significance

Burger Knows Gems . . .

LEGENDARY—BLOODSTONE — dull greenish, apaque, usually spotted with Red Jasper — sometimes called "Heliotrope;" found in India and Siberia.

AQUAMARINE — also March stone, is blue Beryl, meaning color of sea water. Special talisman for ocean travelers for safe and successful voyage—renews married love, develops forbearance; was favored by Alice Roosevelt Longworth of "Alice Blue Gown" fame. Finest blues come from Brazil—in vogue today.

THE NEW ADDITION to the schoolhouse in Pollock Pines school district, to be erected in the coming summer at a cost of about $10,000, will join the present building on the front, as this perspective by George C. Sellen shows. The addition will house an auditorium, which also will be available as a class room, lavatories and other school conveniences. The district trustees hope to call for bids about April 15th and build during the vacation season.

STUDEBAKER COMPANY'S
88TH ANNIVERSARY
FETED BY DEALERS

Recently members of the C. S. Collins Studebaker Agency, of Georgetown and Placerville attended a sales meeting in Sacramento at which more than 100 northern California dealers and their salesmen were in attendance. The event marked the 88th anniversary of the founding of the Studebaker Corporation and the first anniversary since the introduction of the Studebaker Champion.

Interesting figures released relative to the sales over the nation for the nine months of selling in 1939, the Champion since its manufacture, indicate the popular demand 75,494 being sold and delivered during that period. This same popularity was evident reflecting favorably in higher sales in El Dorado County and over the entire northern California zone. Sales of the 1940 models are just as gratifying if not ahead of the same period a year ago, it was announced.

Pacific coast officials present were: C. W. Whitaker, general manager of the Studebaker Pacific Corporation, Los Angeles, and V. C. Winters, manager of San Francisco office. Each expressed their satisfaction on the splendid progress being made and complimented the dealer organization for the fine service they are giving car owners.

Those in attendance from this county, included: C. S. Collins, Bill Saunders, Vance Malroy, Bob Norris and Jim Bredstrand.

WELLER'S
WELLES HOME
FROM EUROPE

1. Premier Benito Mussolini for the last three weeks has been giving many Europeans the impression that he believes Germany now has a chance to win the war. For almost the first time since the conflict started last September, the Italian press (always under orders) is boasting again of the Rome-Berlin alliance and is making use freely of the word "axis."

2. The Allies are confident they are winning air supremacy over Germany—and they have barely tapped their resources or manpower which are being organized to wage a war or fight ten years if necessary.

3. Allied confidence in the early effectiveness of their blockade of the Reich is less strong than it was two months ago, due largely to the still unanswered question of how great a role Soviet Russia can or will play in the final showdown.

4. Inside Germany, there is nothing to indicate a crack-up in the morale. Regimentation of Germany's war effort is at a peak and it is difficult to see any basis at the moment for Allied hopes of internal troubles plaguing Adolf Hitler.

5. There is little chance that Welles—or anybody else—can find any acceptable formula for peace in the immediate future.

City Election
On April 9

11 Seek Three Posts On Council; 2 In Field For Clerk; Treasurer Unopposed

Placerville's municipal election is less than two weeks away and if the political pot has begun to warm up, it has failed thus far to reach a temperature much above the "simmering" stage.

An official notice of the election, published today, lists the names of eleven aspirants for the three vacancies arising in the council; two aspirants for the office of city clerk; and the name of Guy E. Wentworth, who is unopposed for re-election as city treasurer.

George E. Faugsted, James K. Pierson and S. E. Price are the councilmen whose terms are expiring. Mr. Price, who was appointed to the still unanswered question of how great a role Soviet Russia can or will play in the final showdown.

Inside Germany, there is nothing to indicate a crack-up in the morale. Regimentation of Germany's war effort is at a peak and it is difficult to see any basis at the moment for Allied hopes of internal troubles plaguing Adolf Hitler.

The 4-H Clubs of San Joaquin county will hold an exposition in connection with the farm bureau picnic in April.
